The year 1887 is the latter part of the 5647th and the beginning of the 5648th year since the creation of the world, according to the Jews. The year 5648 of the Jewish Era commences on Sept. 19, 1887, being the 5th year of the 298th cycle of 19 years. The year 1887 answers to the 6600th of the Julian Period, to the 2640th from the foundation of Rome, to the 2663rd year of the Olympiads, and to the 7395-6th of the Byzantine Era. The year 1805 of the Mohammedan Era commences on Sept. 19, 1887; and Ramadân (month of abstinence observed by the Turks) commences on May 24, 1887.

OUT OF HIS DEPTH.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS OF 1886.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF THE MEMBERS IN THE TWENTY-FOURTH PARLIAMENT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM, AND THE TWELFTH OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

The General Election of 1886 produced remarkably little change in the personnel of the House. While the election of 1885 introduced 333 newmen to Parliament, that of 1886 introduced only 140, and of these a great many are old Parliamentary hands.

The terminal initial letters denote the political party to which each member belongs. The Irish National party are marked P.

In the above table members who were returned as Independents are classed as Liberals.

In 1832 the number of members of the Lower House was finally fixed at 655; but in 1844 Sudbury (two members) was disfranchised, and in 1852 St. Albans (two members) suffered the same tate. These four seats were, in 1861. allotted as follows:—Two the West Riding of York, one to South Lancashire, and one to Birkenhead.

In 1867 the number of members of the House of Commons was again fixed | members, as against 9.

at 658; but in 1870 Beverley (two members), Bridgewater (two members), Cashel, and Sligo were disfranchised, and these six seats were not re-allotted. In 1885 the number of members of the Lower House was finally fixed at 670; England returning 465, Wales 30, Scotland 72, and Ireland 103 members. The previous distribution had been—England 469. Wales 50, Scotland 60, and Ireland 103 seats. There are now 377 county members, as against 283; 284 borough members, as against 360; and 9 University members, as against 360.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE ELECTIONS OF 1886.

The Election of 1886 was remarkable, in many ways, in the political history of the country—in the demand for Home Rule, and, above all, in the division that took place among the Liberals; the latter became divided into Liberals. Dissentient Liberals or Unionists, Home Rulers, and Pamellites. The complete Parliament consists of 670 members; these were elected by 642 constituencies, inclusive of 226 whose return was unopposed. These were divided as follows:—

... 196 Liberals ... 316 Conservatives ... ... Parnellites ... ... 85

The Conservatives and Dissentient Liberals combined, numbering 389, have a majority of 108 over Liberals and Parnellites, who together number 251. The Liberals and Dissentient Liberals number 269, a minority of 49, as compared with the Conservatives. The Liberals, Dissentient Liberals, and Parnellites combined number 354, a majority of 38 over the Conservatives.

A careful analysis of the Election returns of 1886 shows the aggregate votes in the whole of the United Kingdom were:—

For Liberals ...
,, Parnellites
,, Conservatives ... Conservatives ... ... Dissentient Liberals ... Majority for Home Rule ...

Majority for Home Rule... ... ... 46,653

It will be seen from the above analysis that the total number of electors in favour of Home Rule is 2,174,996, that of electors against it 2,128,343—leaving a clear majority in its favour of close upon 50,000. It may be remarked, as confirming the general accuracy of these estimates, that the total number of electors thus accounted for is 4,303,399, which is almost exactly 75 per cent of the total electorate of Great Britain.

The changes effected by the Election of 1686 in Ireland, as compared with that of 1885, are scarcely worth consideration. The Unionists carried the whole of Londonderry and South Tyrone. The Nationalists, on the other hand, secured a seat in Belfast; and the popular idea of a Loyalist Ulster is a delusion, a corner of it having been torn from the Loyalists or Unionists. Nevertheless, every seat there was any chance of winning from the Parnellites was hotly contested. There were thirty-three seats, returning thirty-four members, contested. Mr. Sexton, it should be noted, was returned for two places—Belfast West and Sligo; and at present (time of going to press) sits for both, not being allowed by the rules of the House to choose which of the two he prefers, because of a petition having been presented from Belfast against his return.

RULES FOR THE ADMISSION OF STRANGERS TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Formerly members used to issue tickets for the Stangers' Gallery in wholesale fashion; and at times Inspector Denning has had to conduct a ballot for seats in which 500 persons have participated; but under the new regulations only as many tickets are issued for a given day as there are seats. A stranger desirous of attending a sitting of the House applies, by letter or personally, to a member of the House, signifying the day for which he desires the ticket of admission, and the gallery (Strangers' or Speaker's) in which he prefers to sit. There are sixty-five seats in the Strangers' and forty-two in the Speakers' Gallery. These tickets are obtained by the members from the authorities of the House, who have to be furnished by the member with the name and address of the applicant, which are entered in a book. Persons provided with tickets of admission to the Strangers' Gallery assemble in St. Stephen's Hall at a quarter to four o'clock on ordinary days, and at a quarter to twelve on Wednesdays, taking a seat on the benches running along the north side of the Hall. After prayers, these ticket-holders are conducted in batches by the police through the Central and Inner Lobbies into the Strangers' Gallery. Possessors of tickets for the Speaker's Gallery assemble at a quarter to four o'clock on the west side of the Central Lobby, next to the rails protecting the approach to the corridor leading to the Inner Lobby, and on there exhibiting their tickets to the poleeman on duty, they are passed on into the Inner Lobby, whence they enter the gallery by a door to the east of the entrance to the House. On entering either the Speaker's or Strangers' Gallery, the ticket-holder has to enter his name and address in a book, which is compared with the name and address given by the M.P. issuing the ticket. Except in times when interest in the sittings is widespread, strangers who have failed to obtain tickets in the ordinary course may often obtain admittance to one or other of the galleries by sending o

58. An act to regulate the expenses and to control the charges of returning officers at Parliamentary elections in Scotland.

59. An Act to amend the Labourers' (Ireland) Acts.

Beside the Acts enumerated, there were 119 Public—General and Local—Acts of an important nature passed during the Session; so that, on the whole, the work of the short Parliament of 1886 was by no means so bald of results as it was supposed. Indeed, some few of the Acts passed were of considerable national importance: that, for instance, for giving facilities for the care, education, and training of the idiot and imbecile, and whereby the friends of these afflicted members of the community are enabled to place them into legally constituted asylums, where they will not only be well cared for, but, if possible, educated to some useful purpose. The Guardians of the Poor are empowered to take charge of them, and contribute towards their support; and, for so doing, will be entitled to ask for special Government grants towards the cost of education and maintenance. The Act, also, relating to the guardianship of infants, whereby the rights of the mother to the care of her children are admitted, and more carefully adjusted than here-tofore. The Act for the limitation of labour of children and young persons in shops is important in its bearing on health. The Tithe Commutation Act is of importance, as it will, no doubt, bring to an end those unseemly disputes which have arisen, far too frequently of late, between the Rector and his parishioners with regard to his demand for an extraordinary tithe rent-charge on hop-grounds, orchards, market gardens, &c. The Act relating to the tenure of land by Crofters in the Highlands of Scotland will, it is hoped, bri

NEWSPAPER STATISTICS OF THE WORLD.

The total number of newspapers and other periodicals published in every part of the world is 35,000, thus giving one to every 28,000 inhabitants. Europe has 20,000 newspapers, Germany coming first with 5500, of which 800 are published daily, the oldest being the *Post Zeitung*, published at Frankfort in 1616, while the one with the largest circulation is the *Berliner* Tageblatt*, which prints 55,000 copies. Great Britain comes next with 4000 newspapers, of which 800 are published daily; while France has 4092, of which 360 only are daily. THE EXTENSION OF THE TELEPHONE is one of the most remarkable in the history of inventions. In August, 1877, the instruments used in the United States were only 780, while in February, 1885, there were 325,674. There are about 18,000 in Canada, and 13,000 in Great Britain. The number of exchanges has grown in America from 100 in 1880 to 782 in 1885. In Junuary last, there were 137,223 miles of telephone wire in that country. There are 5186 persons employed in the American telephone exchanges. More patents have been issued on the telephone than in any other single line of invention in the United States. The total number for the last ten years is 1521. ten years is 1521.

RAILWAY ENTERPRISE.—The returns of 1886 show there was open for traffic at the end of 1885, 19,169 miles of railway; that the capital authorised in railway stock was £927,750,000, and the capital actually paid up £815,858,955. The total receipts from traffic were £66,644,967.

THE POST OFFICE.

LETTER POST.

LETTER POST.

Letters posted at any branch office, receiving-house, pillar-post, or wall letter-box in the town districts of London up to 7 p.m. are in time for delivery the same night in the districts in which posted, and in certain adjoining districts. All the night mails for the provinces share in the extension of posting time. Thus, in the town districts the posting is as under:—In any letter-box, 6 p.m.; ditto, with fee of ½d., 7; at head district offices, with fee of ½d., 7.30; at St. Martin's-le-Grand, with fee of ½d., 7.45; at the railway stations, with fee of ½d., up to the time of the departure of the trains. For some towns the payment of a late fee is not required, as the night mail letters are forwarded by late trains.

In addition to the outward dispatch from the metropolis or coupling.

letters are forwarded by late trains.

In addition to the outward dispatch from the metropolis, an equally elaborate series of trains conveys the mails southwards, permitting of a much earlier delivery. There is practically no restriction as to the size of letters. The scale of postage applicable to letters between 2 oz. and 12 oz. in weight is continued without limit. The letter postage advances as follows:—For the first ounce, 1d.; for 2 oz., 1½d.; for all greater weights, ½d. for every 2 oz., plus a penny. Consequently, letters weighing over 12 oz. will be accepted at the following rates of postage:—Above 12 oz., under 14 oz., under 16 oz., sdd.; above 12 oz., under 15 oz., 5dd.; above 16 oz., under 18 oz., 5dd.; above 10 oz., dd.; above 20 oz., under 22 oz., the parcel post is extended to places abroad, at the same rates as for India, of or parcels. The West India mails are dispatched regularly every two weeks—i.e., on each alternate Thursday, commencing at the end of July.

INLAND TELEGRAMS.

The charge is 6d. for the first twelve words, and 1d. for every additional Addresses are charged for.

Postage stamps are used for payment, and the public are required to affix them to the message forms just as they are required to affix them to letters. A receipt for the charges can be obtained at a cost of 2d.

The telegram forms are of two kinds, the "A 1" form, embossed with a stamp, and the "A" form (given gratis), with no stamp. The "A 1 forms" may be purchased singly. They may also be had in books of twenty, interleaved, and with a sheet of carbonic paper; price 10s. 2d. each book.

When the terminal office—i.e., the office nearest to the address—is a flight

When the terminal office—i.e., the office nearest to the address—is a Head Post Office, the amount paid for transmission covers the cost of delivery within one mile or within the town postal delivery when that extends for more than a mile. When the address is beyond the free delivery. porterage is charged at the rate of 6d. per mile or part of a mile, provided the whole distance does not exceed three miles; but the charge is calculated from the boundary within which no porterage is levied. For instance, if the address is a mile and a quarter from the terminal office, and also beyond the town postal delivery, the charge for porterage would be 6d.; if the distance is above two miles and under three, is.

FOREIGN TELEGRAMS.

The rates vary very much, but full information can be obtained on application to the Secretary, General Post Office. Foreign telegrams are divided into three classes:—Ordinary, composed of words and figures; Code, also composed of words, but the context of which is not intelligible; and Cypher, containing groups of letters or figures, having a secret meaning. Each of the three classes are charged on a definite scale; and at the International Telegraph Conference, held at Berlin, July 1886, the following alterations were made:—

Words of more than ten letters will not be allowed in code telegrams, whether European or extra-European; but in both classes of code telegram words drawn from more than one language may be used.

The sender of a telegram can have it repeated from office to office during transmission by paying an additional quarter rate, instead of a half rate as at present.

If the sender of a European telegram prepays a reply, and the reply form is not used by the addressee, the amount prepaid for a reply will not be refunded to the sender, as hitherto.

If the addressee of a telegram has it repeated and it then proves that only a portion of the telegram was inaccurately transmitted, only a proportionate part of the charges will be refunded.

The charges for any word, or words, omitted during the transmission of an extra-European telegram will be refunded.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or part of that weight.

A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth. The postage is 1s. a pound.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1d. and 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to all Continental countries of the Postal

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN).

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is two pence.

POSTAL ORDERS.

CANADA: ITS PRODUCE AND TRADE.

CANADA: ITS PRODUCE AND TRADE.

In the Colonial Exhibition of 1886 the natural history, trade, and wealth resources of the Dominion of Canada were well represented. From the report of last year we gather that the furs alone exported were valued at 1,600,000 dols.; while the fisheries produced food estimated at 31,000,000 dols. The value of the cod alone amounted to 4½ millions of dollars. Next come lobsters, 2½ millions; then herrings, 2½ millions; mackerel, 1½ million; and salmon, 1½ million. Of tinned salmon the weight amounted to 5,000,000 lb. Passing from the fisheries to the forests, the total value of the wood exported amounted to 21,000,000 dols. Of this sum does not include the manufactured articles of wood, which amounts to several millions of dollars. But it would be hopeless to attempt to give in a small space an adequate idea of the multitude of manufactured goods which Canada annually exports. The capital invested in manufactures increased from 77,690,000 dols. in 1871 to 165,800,000 dols. to 309,670,000 dols. The first cotton-mill was established in Canada only fifteen years ago; now there are twenty-four mills in the Dominion, with 600,000 spindles. In 1899 the imports of raw cotton were 1,245,080 lb.; in 1885 it was 23,727,535 lb. The magnitude of many other industries is seen to have increased at an equally rapid rate.

A DISGRACE TO HIS FAMILY.

SCOTLAND: ITS POPULATION, AREA, &c.

After the Union of Scotland with England in the year 1707, and the suppression of the Rebellion of 1745, the Scotch people generally awoke to the fact that the loss of their separate nationality was a gain; and being united to a wealthy neighbour, they with one accord determined to derive all possible benefit from the change. By means of an admirable banking system capital was utilised. With great and praiseworthy perseverance, a commercial port—Glasgow—was opened in the west. Scotchmen flocked into the British colonies, everywhere carrying with them their habits of industry and thrift. India especially became the scene of their operations, and it was soon seen that they were creators of commerce and producers of wealth. Education was widely diffused throughout the masses, while the Calvinistic religion helped to promote mental activity. At the time of the Union the Scottish Church promote mental activity. At the time of the Union the Scottish Church and Judiciary were left intact. Towards the end of the Session of 1885 the Scotch Secretary Bill passed, whereby a new Minister for Scotland was created, with a regular staff of officials to conduct the affairs of State for Scotland, the Chief Secretary holding office during the tenure of office of the Ministry by whom appointed, as is the case with the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, the rest of the appointments being more or less permanent, as in all other departments of the State. This arrangement has necessarily involved the country in a large additional annual outlay of public money.

Scotland contains nearly 30,000 square miles, or 19,084,659 acres, of which not quite 4,500,000 are in a state of cultivation, with a population in 1871 of 3,360,018, increased to 3,735,573 in 1881.

AREA, POPULATION, VALUATION OF COUNTIES, AND POOR. The valuation of lands and heritages is only approximate; it is that furnished by the Inspectors to the Board of Supervision. The number of paupers is that on the Roll, May 14, 1884.

IRISH AGRICULTURE.

The Irish Agricultural Statistics for last year show that the total extent under crops was 4,957,127 acres, of which 1,594,903 acres were under corn, beans, and peas, 797,296 acres under potatoes, 296,984 acres under turnips, 108,147 acres under flax, the total under tillage being 2,922,359 acres, while there were 2,034,768 acres under meadow and clover grass. The produce raised during the years was as follows: - Wheat, 1,097,198 cwt.; oats, 18,133,677 during the years was as follows:—Wheat, 1,097,198 cwt.; oats, 18,133,677 cwt.; barley, 2,883,937 cwt.; bere, 4623 cwt.; beans, 114,925 cwt.; peas, 9895 cwt.; potatoes, 3,175,738 tons; turnips, 3,551,783 tons; mangel-wurzel and beetroot, 499,730 tons; carrots and turnips, 26,906 tons; cabbage, 397,708 tons; vetches, 82,146 tons; flax, 3,292,555 stones; rape, 36,737 tons; meadow and clover, 4,156,095 tons. The increase or decrease, as compared with 1884, of the acreage under crops was as follows:—Increase: Wheat, 3127; barley, 12,072; bere and rye, 1248; mangel-wurzel and beetroot, 2638; cabbage, 2654; vetches and rape, 1023; carrots, parsnips, and other green crops, 288; flax, 18,922; meadow and clover, 72,281. Decrease: Oats, 19,575; beans and peas, 1588; potatoes, 1660; turnips, 7047. Net increase under crops, 84,383 acres.

IRELAND: ITS POPULATION, GOVERNMENT. AREA, &c.

The population of Ireland on April 3, 1881, was 5,174,836. Unlike any other portion of the British dominions, it is on the decrease. In 1767 it was estimated at 2,544,276, in 1777 at 2,690,556, and in 1801 at 5,216,329. It was not till 1821 that the first complete Census was taken, and the numbers were then found to be 6,801,826; in 1831 they had increased to 7,767,401, and in 1841 to 8,175,124. The highest point was reached in 1845, when the entire population was estimated at 8,295,081. The potato crop, upon which all the agricultural and many of the manufacturing poor depended for their subsistence, having failed for two successive years, produced famine and disease, which carried off large numbers and gave a great impulse to emigration; so that from 1845 the population rapidly decreased. In 1851 there were 6,552,385 persons in the country; in 1861 5,798,584; in 1871 5,412,377; and in 1881 but 5,174,836. Since 1845 the decrease has been 3,120,225,

THE INDIAN EMPIRE.

The British Empire in India extends over a territory as large as the Continent of Europe without Russia, having an area of 1,377,540 square miles, and a population of 254 millions. From Peshawur, the northern frontier station, to Cape Comorin, the distance is 1900 miles, and the same distance separates Karáchi, the port of Sind, from Sudiya, the frontier-post on the eastern border of Assam. Northern India, or Hindústán, lies at the foot of the Himálayas, stretching from sea to sea, comprehends the rich alluvial plains watered by the Indus, the Ganges, the Lower Brahmaputra, and their tributaries. Southern India, or the Deccan, is a plateau of triangular shape and very old geological formation, bounded on two sides by the Malabar and Coromandel coasts, which converge at Cape Comorin, and on the third by the Vindhya mountains, north of the Narbaddah river. Three-fifths of this great Empire are under the direct rule of the British Government, and are divided, for administrative purposes, into eight provinces—viz., Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjáb, the Central Provinces, British Burna, Assam, Madras, and Bombay. The remaining two-fifths are made up of a large number of Native States, whose chiefs, one and all, acknowledge the suzerainty of her Majesty the Queen, and whose representative is styled the Viceroy and Governor-General, his relations with the Home Government being regulated by Act 21 and 22 Vict. c. 106, which substituted the authority of a Secretary of State for India, aided by a Council of fifteen members, for that of the East India Company and the Board of Control. This Council forms the Supreme Government in India, which passes in review the entire administration in six separate departments—Finance and Commerce, Foreign, Military, Public Works, Home, and the Department of Revenue and Agriculture. Each department is under the charge of a Secretary, and is also the special care of a member of the Supreme Council, who has authority to deal with affairs of routine and minor importance, and to select what is worthy of the consideration of the Governor-General and his collective Council. The Governor-General specially superintends the political business of the Foreign Office. The Department of Finance and Commerce looks to questions of Finance, to Stamps, Excise, and the Post Office, and anything involving a permanent charge on the State, and also to questions bearing on the commerce of the country. The most important subjects coming under the attention of the Department of Fiveneu and Agriculture are the Land Revenue, Opium, Salt, Forests, Abkari or Ex and their tributaries. Southern India, or the Deccan, is a plateau of triangular shape and very old geological formation, bounded on two sides

The Government of India is debited with the cost of the Army for all India, excepting Madras and Bombay, with the interest on debt, and, generally, with all Imperial as distinguished from Provincial expenditure. The excess of expenditure over receipts is balanced by the aggregate surplus of all the provinces.

In India, including the Native States, there are nearly 254 millions of inhabitants, 185 millions being Hindoos, and 50 millions Mohammedans. Of 130 million males, 51 millions are dependent on agricultural pursuits, 13\(^2\) millions on various industries, 7\(^1\) millions are labourers, and 2 millions are in domestic service. There are 714,759 villages, townships, &c. (544,856 being in British territory, and 169,903 in the Native States), nearly half of these being villages with less than 200 inhabitants. The average number of inhabitants is 211 per square mile (varying between more than 442 in Bengal to less than 431 in British Burmah). There are forty-four towns with a population of more than 50,000—the seven largest being Calcutta, 766,298; Bombay, 773,196; Madras, 405,848; Lucknow, 261,303; Benares, 175,188; Patna, 158,900; Delhi, 154,417. The total number of British-born subjects in 1881 was 89,798 (77,188 males, 12,610 females).

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1887.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1887.

In the year 1887 there will be two Eclipses of the Sun, and two of the Moon. Feb. 8. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, not visible from England. The Eclipse begins at 14 minutes after 9h a.m. Greenwich mean time; its middle will be at 22 minutes after 10h a.m., and the Eclipse will end at 30 minutes after 11h a.m. At the beginning of the Eclipse will end at 30 minutes after 11h a.m. At the beginning of the Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith at a place whose longitude is 135 deg. 50 min. W. of Greenwich and latitude 144 deg. N.; at the middlle at a place whose longitude is 152 deg. 10 min. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 14 deg. 20 min. N.; and the end at a place whose longitude is 168 deg. 30 min. W. and latitude 14 deg. 10 min. N. Feb. 22. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, invisible from Europe. The Central Eclipse begins at 59 minutes after 7h p.m. in longitude 140 deg. 50 min. E. and latitude 51 deg. 50 min. S. The Central Eclipse ends at 7 minutes after 11h p.m. in longitude 69 deg. 30 min. W. and latitude 21 deg. 30 min. S. The central line begins at a point South of Australia, and ends at a place in the Pacific Ocean. The Eclipse will be visible from Australia, New Zealand, and the islands in the Pacific Ocean.

Ang. 3. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, beginning at 36 minutes after 7h p.m. (the Moon on this day rises in Londom at 7h 35m). The middle of the Eclipse will be at 49 minutes after 8h p.m.; and it ends at 2 minutes after 10h p.m. At these times the Moon will be in the zenith of places whose longitudes are 66 deg. 50 min., 49 deg. 10 min., and 31½ deg. east of Greenwich, and latitudes 17 deg. S., 16 deg. 50 min. S., and 16 deg. 43 min. S., respectively. At the time of the middle of the Eclipse, something less than one half of the diameter of the Moon will be obscured.

Aug. 19. A Total Eclipse begins at 11 minutes after 4h a.m., in east longitude 172½ deg., and north latitude 24½ deg. At London the Sun will be Partially Eclipsed at the time of sunrise at 53 minutes after 6h

ON THE NIGHT OF MR. GLADSTONE'S SPEECH, April 8, 1886, the business done at the telegraph office of the House of Commons exceeded all previous records. The telegraph staff dispatched no fewer than 520 private messages by wire, and 678 press messages by tube to the Central Telegraph Office. One of the private messages exceeded 1100 words, whilst some of the press messages contained over 18,000. The total number of words dispatched from Westminster is estimated at over 100,000.

THE POPULATION OF THE GLOBE, 1886.

The great fact in connection with modern statistics is the enormous increase The great fact in connection with modern statistics is the enormous increase of the European population that has taken place during the last hundred years. In 1788 the population of Europe was in round numbers 145 millions; in 1886 it will amount to 350 millions. This is not the whole increase, for in the two Americas, in South Africa, and in Australia 70 millions more of the European race will be found, making a grand total of 420 millions. Somewhat more than a third of the human race possess more than half the globe, and it is estimated that in the next century the population of the United States of America will have increased to the enormous number of 800 millions. Among Eastern populations, that of India alone increases, and on its 1,400,000 square miles of territory, there are about 254 millions, or 175 persons to the square mile. Of the Far East the total population is believed to be not much above 300 millions. In Russia and Poland the population in 1788 was 27 millions, in 1885 it was 98 millions, an increase of 260 per cent, or 60 per cent more than the rate of increase of Great Britain within the same period.

or 60 per cent more than the rate of increase of Great Britain within the same period.

This growth of population among the European races, and especially among the English speaking, has been accompanied by a more than proportionate growth of wealth. In 1783, English capital is said to have amounted to 1200 millions sterling; in 1875; thad increased to 8500 millions, an increase of seven times in less than half a century. The capital of France, England, and the United States together reaches the enormous figure of 24,000 millions sterling. In the same way income has also increased relatively and absolutely from £16 per head in 1788 to £35 per head at the present time, the total increase of Great Britain being valued at 1200 millions (as much as the whole capital of the three kingdoms a century ago), against 200 millions just before the outbreak of the French Revolution. On the other hand, the public expenditure of Europe has leaped in twenty years from £369,000,000 to £744,838,934. National Debts have swelled in the same period from £2,626,000,000 to £4,559,443,064. Every military department in every State has helped by its war debts and gigantic preparations for war to build up this gigantic sum:—

ROYAL JUBILEES.

ROYAL JUBILEES.

Since Egbert of Wessex in 827 united the heptarchy of England into one kingdom, there have been fifty-eight monarchs on the throne, only three of whom have had reigns extending into what is understood as the jubilee year, the three being Henry III., Edward III., and George III. On June 20, last, Queen Victoria entered upon the fiftieth year of her reign; but the full term of the jubilee will not, of course, be completed until June 20 of the present year, 1887. Henry III. reigned in all fifty-six years, 1216—127; Edward III. died soon after completing the jubilee term; while George III. outlived his jubilee ten years, and had therefore the longest reign of which our history affords an example. The third George was seventy-one years old when the advent of his jubilee was celebrated, so that he may be said to have reached his majority when he came to the throne. The other two began their reigns in their boyhood—Henry III. in his tenth year, and Edward III. in his sixteenth. Her present Majesty was eighteen at the began their reighs in their boynous—henry Tr. in his center year, and time of her accession.

The jubilee year of Henry III. gave rise to no public rejoicings, and Henry, owing to his oppressive exactions, was not then in favour enough for the people to do honour to the event. Edward III., however, saw a very hearty celebration of two jubilees—one on attaining the fiftieth year of his life as well as that which marked the fiftieth year of his reign. It is recorded of him (in Barnes's History) that in 1376, being the fiftieth year of his reign, he "kept a second jubilee in commemoration thereof, and gave pardons, immunities, and graces, and showed many notable acts of bounty and goodness to his people, as in the first jubilee."

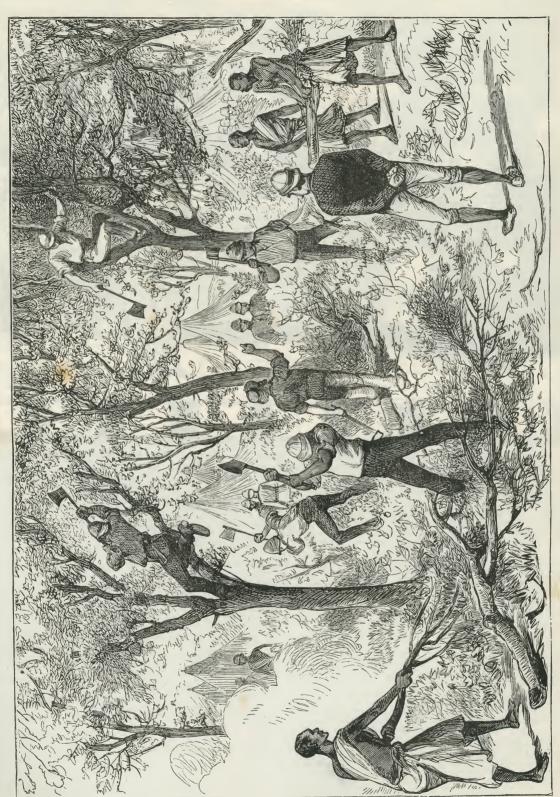

George III. was not well enough to take any personal part in the festivities that marked the fiftieth year of his reign, and soon after the malady pronounced itself which necessitated a Regency. His Consort, however, took an active part in all jubilee arrangements made by the Royal household. The celebration was general on Oct. 25, 1809, all over the country, Scotland to the heartiness with which it commemorated an event of so much interest in our annals; and Ireland was not in any sense behind in demonstrative loyalty.
